GAMES AT BALMORAL-THE ROYAL PARTY AT PREDENSBORG-THE HISTORY OF THE OS-BORNE - SIR JAMES FERGUSSON-

THE QUEEN OF DENMARK-THE NO FEES SOCIETY. INY CABLE TO THE THIBUNE. Copyright: 1881; By The Tribune Association.

nden, sept. 28.—The Queen had a private gather ng in one of the grass parks of Balmoral the at which various games were keerly centested, the competitors being either tenants er employes of the Balmoral, Birkhall and Abergeldie estates. It was a perfectly quiet affair, for which not a single invitation vas sent out, and only royalties and the household were present. The Queen gave prizes of the value of

THE PRINCE OF WALES'S FAMILY IN MOURNING. The melanchely death of Grand Duchess Paul placed the family of the Prince of Wales in mourning, as she was a nice of the Princess and also her goldaughter. This sad event upset all the Royal plans, but the Prince of Wales will probably proceed to Denmark in ew days. The Princess remains with her parents at Fredensborg, her visit to the Duke and Duchess of Cumberland-Gimensien having been postponed in con-sequence of the family mourning, and also because of uncertainty that at present prevails respecting the plans of the Emperor and Empress of Russia.

THE ROYAL PARTY AT FREDENSBORG. The wet and stormy weather which has prevailed in Denmark during the last month has considerably intertered with the diversions of the Reyal party at Fredens-There have been no shooting parties, as yet, in King Christian's forests, and the only occasion upon which the monarchs and princes staying at the Schloss vent out together was when the King of Sweden invited them to a hare munt in the picturesque island of Holn in the Sound. This was a great success, and before the sport commenced there was a dejeuner served in ferest and afterward an early dinner on board King escar's yacht. The Fredensborg party went by train to Eisinore, and thence to Holn in the Royal yacht. The Emperor has enjoyed three pursch hunts, and was The Emperor ass enjoyed three by King Christian and Prince accompanied each time by King Christian and Prince and Princess Waldimar. They started at 4 in the merning and returned at 11, dejeuner being served. in the forest of Grieb after the hunt. The Emperor killed thirty deer altogether.

A GERMAN PRINCE IN THE INDIAN ARMY. Prince Christian Victor of Schleswig Holstein has carned his first mention in the dispatches. He served as orderly officer of Major-General Ellis in the Black Mountain expedition, and has been commended by his late chief for the zeal he displayed in the discharge of his duties. The Prince left the Black Mountain force in order to join his battalion, which proceeded service with Sir William Lockhart's expedition, so that he new has had a taste of active service in two little wars on the Indian frontier.

THE ROYAL YACHT OSBORNE. The Royal yacht Osborne is now in the dock at Portsmouth. She will probably remain there many Her hull is to be thoroughly surveyed with a view to ascertain if she is fit to receive new bollers; but most likely, if not fit, she will have to be made so. The history of the Osberne is a She was laid down at Pembreke about August, 1860. She left that port for Portsmouth in the spring of 1671. On examination after her arrival she was found to have been built in such a flimsy, shoddy fashion that it was out of the question to complete her for sen. As she was there for a whole year she was most carefully left alone lest any estion should be asked by an inquisitive member of the Heuse. She was afterward stiffened and gthened with extra fron bulkheads, girders, and good deal of her planking, originally rotten fir, was replaced by mahogany and teak. The Osborne was eventually commissioned in June, 1874, and he first trip was intended to be to take the Prince of Wales to open the Guildhall in Plymouth. His Royal Highness, however, the weather being nasty, prered the rail. Immediately afterward she took the Princess of Wales and her children to Copenhagen. being placed the following year at the disposal of the Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh to pay a visit to

The Queen of Denmark received a number of beau tiful and valuable presents on her seventy-fourth birthday, which was celebrated at Fredensborg the other day, and a shoal of congratulatory telegrams arrived, including messages from the Queen, the Duke of Cambridge and the Duchess of Teck.

THE GRAND DUKE OF MECKLENBURG-SCHWERIN. The Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Scawerin, who about six weeks ago for several days lay at the point of death, rallied in a most marvellous manner, and last Friday ieft Ludwigslust, accompanied by the Grand Duchess and children for Paris on the way to Cannes, where they are to reside during the next seven months. The Duchess of Edinburgh recently paid a brief visit to her cousin, the Grand Duchess of Mecklenburg-Schwerin at Ludwigslust.

DEATH OF THE COUNTESS OF HACKE.

The Countess of Hacke, who was attached to the household of the Empress Augusta for nearly fifty years, died the other day at Cobleniz, where she had apartments in the Electoral Pulace. The Countess was a clever women, with much quickness and vivacity in conversation and had a great reputation for abillity and wit. She came to England with the Empress, then Princess of Prussia, in 1858, on the occasion of the marriage of the Princess Reyal to the Crown BEATING THE MARCHING RECORD.

Lord Wenlock has beaten the marching record by fiding twenty-two miles in one morning and afterward holding a petitioners' durbar in the afternoon at Cuddapah. He carned the gratitude of the community by requesting the authorities to refrain from all decorations and display.

AN ANCIENT MANSION RESTORED. It is curious that the late Lord Northesk should have died just as he completed the restoration of Ethie Castle, his palace in Forfarshire, which is the oldest inhabited house in that country and famous for having been the country residence of Cardinal Boaton. The work has been carried out with the greatest care. the mansion having been restored in appearance to its ancient condition and the only addition is the tower.

SIR JAMES FERGUSSON'S CAREER. James Fergusson has probably served Her Majesty in more capacities than any man living, and in all has done good work. He was a distinguished soldier, whose bravery was conspicuous in the Crimea and who was wounded at Inkermann. Sir James has sluce been Under secretary for India and the Home Department, and has served as the Governor of South Australia, New-Zealand and Bombay. Sir James Pergusson is a man of undoubted ability, and no one will more welcome his new appointment than his old comrades at the Crimea. The Fergussons of Kilkerron have been men of note in Scotland for four generations. In the present day Sir James Fergusson and his brother, Sir Charles Dalrymple, conclusively prove that the race as not degenerated.

THE M'CARTHYITE APPEAL FOR FUNDS. Both pagies in Ireland are pretty well gravelled for want of faids, but the Anti-Parnellite party is going to issue a besh appeal to the Irish in the United States. For the present no deputation is going over. It is expected that leading Irishmen in the different of the Usion will take the matter up, and will appeal to their countrymen for funds. Irish-Americans are to be told that this is positively the last time that Ireland will come before the American public in the character of a beggar. The general election will take place next year, Home Rule is to be victorious, and reland will be happy ever after. Such is the pleasant fiction by which money is to be wheedled out of the pockets of patriots in America.

MAURICE ST. CLAIR LONG.

Very general sympathy will be aroused for Mrs. ang, the widow of the recently deceased Royal Academician, who has just lost her eldest son, Maurice St. Clair Long, in the accident to the Madrid train at Burgos. He was a most amable young man, who fought the battle of life stoutly against physical infirmity, for he had an impediment in his speech and suffered at times from epileptic ats. His visit to Germany was to be under specialists. Core ameliorated the first defect. The other mulady did not diminish with increase of years. He was not an artist, but had sided literary ability.

A CURIOUS QUESTION IN LAW. A carious question in law is likely to arise over the orier divorce suit. Colonel Hozier has taken proceedings against his wife in Scotland, and the question of jurisdiction will arise. Colonel Hozler himself lives the greater part of the year in London. Lis occupathe greater part of the year in London. I is occupa-tion is in London, and the divorce court would appear to be the natural place for the suit. Lady Hozier, however, has been living some time in Scotland, and the contention apparently is that she has acquired domicile there. The Scotch law of divorce differs on material points from the English I.w.

A GRIEVANCE OF THE PLAYGOERS. I felt pleasure on the receipt of a little leaflet issued by the No Fees Society, which calls upon the public to do all in its power to abolish the fee system by refusing to pay for programmes, or better still, to avoid fee theatres as they would the plague. It always seemed to me a piece of monstrous importi-nence on the part of theatrical managers to call upon the public to remunerate those who are in every sense the servants of the theatre, by whose responsible director they should be paid. So far back as December Mr. Albert Smith, in opening an entertainment in Egyptian Hall, published in the programme a notice that no fees would be charged to the public. Mr. Rollingshead, on the assumption of the lesseeship of the Galety in 1868, followed suit. The Bancrofts, at the Prince of Wales's and the Haymarket successfully combatted the hydra, but the measter was scotched not killed, and at the present moment there are many theatrical establishments managed by respectable per-sons in which the system flourished to the absolute disgrace of those whose pames as directors appear at the head of the programme. Co-operation on the part of the enormous army of playgoers should bring this imposition to an end. EDMUND YATES.

A RECORD-BREAKING TRIP.

FAST TIME FROM SAN FRANCISCO.

JOHN W. MACKAY AND MISS FAIR COME ACROS THE CONTINENT IN ABOUT 45 DAYS.

On water and on land records are being broken; especially has this been the case during the last few onths, when new records have been established in quick succession by transatlantic steamers, sailing and steam yachts, and by railroad trains. The latest fast trip made with the latter mode of conveyance was ended yesterday morning at 10:53, when the private car Grassmere rolled into the Grand Central Station, having come from the Pacific to the Atlantic Ocean in 4 days 12 hours and 28 minutes.

On the ear were John W. Mackay, the millionalre, and Miss Virginia Fair, daughter of ex-Senator Fair and sister of Mrs. Herman Oelrichs, of New-York. Last Wednesday they saw the sun sink in the Pacific Ocean. The sun that greeted them yesterday morning rose from the Atlantic Ocean and told them that more than 3,000 miles had been made in the fastest time on record for a special passenger car on regular trains. In a little over 100 hours they had crossed a continent, climbed great mountains, swept by and through a nundred populous cities, and almost before the sight of San Francisco's golden gate had faded the Mississippi had been crossed, the great lakes had been passed and down the broad valley of the Hudson they sped into a city on the shore of another ocean.

Last August Herman Oelrichs made the trip over th same route and in the same private car in four days, eighteen hours and forty minutes. In both instances the car was attached to the fast mail train, which starts from Green River, Wvo., but in Mr. Oelrichs's case the Grassmere had to be dropped from the mail train at Creston, Iowa, as the train was too heavily loaded. This caused him to miss the fast mail train connection at Chicago, while Mr. Mackay had better luck. His car went through to Chicago without delay arriving there at 7 a. m. on Sunday morning, and it was at once transferred to the fast mail which left Ohicage over the Lake Shere read at 8 e'clock.

The train was delayed twenty four minutes between

Chicago and Talego, a freight-train blocking the way. but five minutes were gained by an extra fast run over the Hudson River road between Poughkeepsie and New-York. The only other delay was on the Union Pacific road. At Cheyenne the train arrived one hour and twenty-five minutes late, but the time was made up by a quick run to Council Bluffs.

The route was over the Southern Pacific road to Orden. Utah. There the Grassmere was rushed to the Union Pacific road, and went to Council Bluffs From that point the car went to Green River. Miss Fair went to the home of Mr. Oeirichs, at No. 453 Fair went to the home of Mr. Oeirichs, at No. 4.35 Fifth-ave. Mr. Mackay went to his rooms in the Windser Hotel, where he told a Tribune reporter lass night that he considered the time made nothing remarkable, as any fast mail train could equal the record if it were not for the necessary stoppages. The trip was pleasant but uneventful. He remarked that it was, however, rather different from the journey he made across the plains in 1266, when it took twenty-two days to go less an half the distance.

TRYING TO DRIVE HIM OUT.

ALLEGED PERSECUTION OF A BATH BEACH DOCTOR.

According to his own statements, Dr. David Ze Waltoff, of Bath Beach, is a much and unjustly persecuted man. All the petty annoyances, gross insults threats and even arrests and arraignments he has sustained, culminated in an attempt to burn his business office yesterday morning at 3:30 o'clock. The drug store where the doctor has his office is known as the Bath Beach Pharmacy, and is on Bay, Nineteenth-st. and Cropsey-ave. At about 3:30 a. m., Henry Arens, who lives in his father's hotel just opposite the drugstore, discovered the latter to be on fire. He rushed across the street and battered on the door to arouse the sleeping tenants. As he heard no response, he smashed in the large window, and the crash smanned in the large window, and the clearly and noise of falling glass awoke Gerald Ze Walteff, a brother of the doctor, and the drug-clerk, who slept in the store. Dr. David Ze Waltoff lad gone to New-York for the night, so that his persecutors were disappointed if they meant bodily harm to him.

The are was put out before the loss amounted to more than $100, fully covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is from all appearances incendiary. rwo years ago the drugstors was totally destroyed by fire together with a part of the coal yard of Henry Henges and the Idle Rest Hotel, at a loss of $30,000 and since thee several other attempts have been made to fire the drugstore. Gerald Ze Waltoff said yesterday: "It is the work of the same gang that has been troubling my brother for the last two years; they want to drive him out of the town, and won't stop short at anything, even if some one's life has to be sacrificed to accomplish that object."

Dr. Zo Waltoff, about two years ago, was arrested Dr. Zo Waltoff, about two years ago, was arrested upon a charge of criminal assanit upon Mrs. Belker, wife of Louis Beiker, a partner in the paint business of Charles A. Conrady, Associate Justice of the Court of Sessions. It appears that the charge could not be substantiated, and his persecutors began to attempt to do the doctor bodily harm. An attempt was made to burn his house, and when he moved to the drug store and slept there the store was set on fire. Frequently he has received White Cap notices, but never paid any attention to them.

CHEERS FOR TENNIS PLAYERS. Another fine exhibition of tennis playing was given vesterday at the tournament of the Orange, N. J., Lawn Tennis Club, when Stanley Ward carried off the honor n the men's singles and in the semi-finals of the men's doubles George Miles and his partner, William Vander teift, carried all before them and gained a place in the finals. There was a large attendance and the applicase was almost continuous at the brilliant play.

was almost continuous at the brilliant play. The scores were the following:

Men's Singles, final-Stanley Ward beat Clifford A. Gould, 3-6, 6-3, 8-6, 2-8, 7-5.

Men's Doubles, semi-finals-George Miles and William Vanderkeift, fifteen, beat Samuel Campbell and C. A. Gould, scratch, 11-9, 6-4; Charles F. Watson and S. Ward, one bisque, beat C. Morrison and C. A. Munn, two bisque, 7-5, 6-3.

The finals will be played this afternoon.

MINNIE HAUK GIVES " CARMEN" IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, Sept. 28 .- For the first time in several years, Minnie Hank sang to-night before an American audience. Her opera company opened its season with presentation of "Carmen" at the Chicago Opera Heuse, Mme. Hank appearing in the title part. It was the first appearance of Montariol in this country. The house was crowded; Mme, Hank and Del Puents were received with enthusiasm, and Montariol created a decidedly favorable impression.

THE SATELLITES OF JUPITER.

San Francisco, Sept. 28.-A dispatch to the Associated San Francisco, Sept. 18.—A dispatch to the Associated Press from Professor E. S. Holden, of Lick Observation, SASS: "Observations of Professor Scharble and Professor Campbell during August and September show that the first satellite of Jupiter is ellipsoid, and that one of its longer axes is directed toward the centre of Jupiter. The other satellites access to the other land. satellites appear to be spherical."

WESTCHESTER'S BIG FAIR.

PREPARATIONS FOR THE FORMAL OPENING. EVERYTHING POINTS TO AN UNUSUAL SUCCESS-

LIST OF THE BOX-HOLDERS! Young men and maidens, old men and children, fathers and mothers, husbands and wives from all parts of Westchester County filled the dusty roads in the neighborhood of White Plains yesterday morning. They were all on their way to the big annual County Fair which was informally opened yesterday at the "old fair grounds" about a mile west of White Plains. It was a happy crowd, farmers and their familles principally. The country is sadly in need of rain and the roads show the lack of it mere than do the beauliful green meadows which stretch away in verdant loveliness in all directions from the fair grounds.

The grounds presented an animated picture. No price for admission was charged and the country peo-ple who had nothing to exhibit but themselves took advantage of the opportunity to see what was to be seen. They saw a busy throng in all parts of the spacious grounds, exhibition halls and tents. They saw peanut and popcorn men and fakirs of all kinds putting up their booths in readiness for the harvest of nickels and dimes they expect to reap. They saw the tent over which-on convas-was gorgeous crimson calf with two bodies, legs and goodness knows how many reads, all of which could be seen for 10 cents. sides these the fresh and rosy farmers' daughters gazed at the ever-welcome merry-go-round, one the chief advantages of which is that many of the people who are rash enough to risk mounting the impossible-looking animals continue to go round after they have dismounted. Then the giggling girls dis-covered the man with the ring and cane stands. Have any cane, Miss, you kin throw a ring over; lve 'tries' for 5 cents." The most of the country asses tried, but it is needless to say, none of them five 'tries' for 5 cents." succeeded, for when was a woman ever known to hit the thing she aimed at?

In the main building, called Floral Hall, people were arranging the different exhibits on the ground floor and in the galleries. The hall was prettily trimmed with streamers and flags, and the exhibit of flowers, which covered a large stand at one end of the sloor, filled the air with fragrance. Here were also candles enough to make all the people in the county sick; a large number of pianos, artificial flowers, delicious-looking preserves—some home made and some store-made; cakes too good-looking to be caten, a large amount of gro-ceries, a quantity of furniture, improved carpet-sweep-ers, etc. The galleries were devoted almost exclusively to exhibitions of women's fancy work of all kinds. There were embroidered chairs, seats and backs, fablecloths, bed-quilts, pincushions, pillow-covers, "tidies," screens, work-bags, etc., indeed an elaborate display. This is the general committee on the women's exhibits:

The art gallery adjoins Floral Hall, and the facest lot of professional and amateur works the fair has ever had was being arranged yesterday. About half the pictures are in oil and in water color, and the rest are artistic photographs. The immense fruit tent, which is just west of the big hall, was almost filled with an exceedingly large amount of fine fruit, flowers, plants and vegetables. There were limitense apples and pears, peaches that could not be persuaded to go into an ordinary goblet; pumpkins so huge that an aged husbandman was moved to remark: "By gosh! but they do beat all ever I seed"; huge squashes, yellow, white and dark green; beets over two feet long, watermelons, asinine cars of corn, egsplants, and many others. In some of the tents were wagons of various kinds, farming machines, etc. Not many cattle reached the grounds yesterday, but the horses and ponies were there in force.

Secretary Longford and his corps of assistants were kept busy all day taking the entries. A large amount is to be given in premiums, and so the number of entries was unusually big. A fine lot of horses and ponics is at the fair, and the races and horse show, which begin this afternoon, promise to be exceedingly interesting. The programme of the pony races to day is as follows: Free for all, trotting and pacing, pony sweepstakes, one-quarter mile, two out of three heats; three-minute trotting; handicap sweepstakes, one-half mile: handicap sweepstakes, one mile-

The formal opening comes to-day, and it will cost you 50 cents to go in if you are a big one, but if you are an infant it will only be a quarter. The chairman of the executive committee, Oliver summer Teall, ex-pects a herge number of fashionable people to be present in the boxes they have engaged. This is the corrected tist of boxholders:

The horse show will be held inside the half-mile track on a horse show will be held inside the half-mile track on a pleasant stretch of greensward, and when the field is covered with high-spirited horses, gay conclues, drags and other brightly decorated vehicles, it will be a sight worth seeing. And when the fair is in full blast and it the sansage-vender is proclaiming to an actonished world that his delectable articles of diet are a yard long and a foot wide, and the popebribar merchant is decirring to his gaping customers that his mess of corn souked in molasses is as good as the finest confectionery, and when the babies are crying, the beautiful fat pigs squealing, and when all the other attractions of this delightful fair are "going on" at once, then surely one can say with true thankfulness, "Kight glid indeed am I that I have lived to see this."

If to-day is fine the opening will be the most brilliant by far that the fair has ever had.

THE INTERSTATE FAIR OPENED. Trenton, N. J., Sept. 28 (Special).-The Interstate Fair opened to-day, and 5,000 persons were in attendance. The exhibition buildings are filled with the handsomest specimens of the mechanical arts and agri-cultural products, and over 100 trotters and pacers are stalls to take part in the turf contests. fair will continue until Friday. POLITICAL ODDS AND ENDS.

THE JOINT DEBATE IN MASSACHUSETTS. ME. LODGE DECLINES TO MODIFY HIS ACCEPT ANCE OF THE DEMOCRATIC INVITATION.

Boston, Sept. 28 (Special) .- When the Democrat. State (Central Committee challenged (Henry Cabot Lodge to participate in a joint debate they evidently did not expect ap acceptance. It has not hitherto been the policy of the Republicans in Massachusetts to adopt Western and Southern tacties in State or National campaigns. The Democratic managers evidenily expected that Mr. Lodge would decline, and name the conditions of the contest. The subjects chosen by Mr. Lodge for joint debate were: First detate, "The Administration of Governor Russell," second debate, "The Attitude of the National Demoeratic Party upon the Silver Question"; third debate, "Prices of the Necessities of Life as Affected by the McKinley Tariff Bill." This programme does not suit the Democratic managers. They sent to Mr. Lodge a reply, in which they pronounced his subjects too narrow, and suggested that a conference be held, and that the conditions be broadened somewhat. Mr. Ledge promptly declined to modify his position, in that the conditions be broadened somewhat. Mr Ledge promptly declined to medify his position, it the following letter:

In your letter of September 25 you challenged me to meet Mr. John E. Bussell in a series of joint debates on the issues of the campaign. You also said that you would be glaat to confer with me or my representatives in regard to making arrangements for such meetings. I accepted your challenges at once. I gave you the only three nights at my disposal, October 23, 25 and 31. I authorized the Republican State Committee to confer with you in regard to arrangements for such meetings. You did not invite me to confer with you about the subjects of discussion. The subjects of the debates are not part of the arrangements. You fully admit this in your second letter of September 26, when you say that you have no doubt that "both the subjects of debate and the arrangements for the meeting can be agreed upon at a conference." You said absolutely nothing in your letter about my consulting with you as to framing the subjects of debate. You invite me broadly to discuss the issues of the campaign. As the challenged party. I had an undoubted right to name the subjects to be discussed, and especially so when you had waived all selection yourselves by challenging me to discuss the issues of the campaign without naming any. I exercised my right and named three, "Governor Russell's Administration," "The Attitude of the National Democratic Party on the silver Question? and "The Pricos of the Necessaries of Life as affected by the McKinley Tariff Bill." I are sorry that those subjects do not meet the approvat of your taste or the extremeirs of your situation, but that fact gives you no claim to alter them now.

I decline to modify the terms of my acceptance of your challenge in any particular. As the demands upon my time just now are many, a prompt decision as to your action in this matter will oblige me.

Very truly.

COUNTY DEMOCRATS AGAINST FLOWER. THE LEADERS ARE SORRY, THEY SAY, BUT THEY

CAN'T KEEP THEIR FOLLOWERS IN LINE FOR THE TAMMANY STATE TICKET. An important meeting of the Executive Committee the County Democracy, composed of the Assembly district leaders of the organization, was held at the New-Amsterdam Club last evening, at which the do cision was virtually arrived at that any effort to indorse the nomination of Roswell P. Flower and the Tammar Hall State ticket was useless and impossible. As on of those present pithily put it: "However much the picturesque gentlemen who claim to direct the County

Democracy may desire to oblige Mr. Flower, their wishes are unavailing; the substrata of the organization is dead against him." The members of the committee gathered in executive session in an upper chamber of the cubliouse and dis cussed the situation calmly and earnestly for two or three hours. Chairman Charles A. Jackson presided with his accustomed vigor and Charles J. McGee acted When the roll was called as usual as secretary. every Assembly district was found to be represented. The districts were then called in their order by the secretary and each leader gave his opinion of the senti-Westchester-Mrs. James M. Waterbury, Mrs. Moses ment of his district. There was but one sontiment expressed and that was that the rank and file could not be held in line for the Tammany tleket. Among those who spoke hore or less at length were Lawrence Weils, of the Viith District; ex-Corporation Counsel H. R. Beebman, of the Hifd; M. J. Burke, of the Hid. Ernest Harvier, of the IXth; ex-Judge James E. Coulter, of the XVIIth; ex-Justice Maurice J. Power, of the XVIIth; ex-Bussice Maurice J. Power, of the XVIIth; James McCarthey, of the XVIIIth; ex-Suscie John Jeroloman, of the XIIIth; William F. Grote, of the XIIth; John C. Ryan, of the 1st; ex-Alderman Danlel E. Dowling, of the IVII; H. S. Dyer, of the Vith Xihan S. Levy, of the VIIIth; John Mulligan, of the XIth; D. Lowber Smith, of the XIXth; Bernard Wilson, of the XXIIt, Peter Rush, of the XXIXth; Bernard Wilson, of the XXIIth, What was said by ex-Judge Power, Mr. Beekman, Mr. Harvier, Mr. McCarthey and Mr. Smith, may be D. Lowber Smith, of the XIXth; Bernard Wilson, of the XXId; Peter Rush, of the XXIst, and John J. Quinlan, of the XXId; Peter Rush of the XXIst, and John J. Quinlan, of the XXId.

What was said by ex-Judge Power, Mr. Beckman, Mr. Harvier, Mr. McCartney and Mr. Smith, may be taken as the opinion of the committee. They said only in varied language and expressing different degrees of regret that they felt no personal hostility to Mr. Flower or to any of his associates on the Democratic State ticket. On the contrary, they were on terms of centire friendship with him and were individually eager to serve him. He was a good man and personally an unexceptionable candidate. Yet they found it impossible to get the County Democrats of their districts to support him. This was owing to the mainner of his nomination and the just feeling of ledigaation at the treatment their organization had received at Saratoga. The prevailing sentiment was that Mr. Flower's election meant the triumph of Tammany Hall and the un-Democratic and forbidden methods which had made Tammany a byword and a reproach throughout the land.

Each leader said that he had talked personally with his district captains, and with numbers of the men who made up the bene and shew of the organization, and that they were ail practically of one mind, and that was that it would prove an inter fallacy even to make a pretence of supporting Mr. Flower, The independent Democracy of the city, they said, would not "go" him, nor any of the ticket placed in the field by the Tammany State Convention. All spoke more in sorrow than in anser, Some of them admitted that they had promised to vote the Democratic State ticket as usual, but said that they couldn't get their friends and followers to do it.

The County Democracy County Committee will meet.

that they couldn't fet their friends and followers it do it.

The County Demorracy County Committee will me at Cooper Union on Friday evening to decide what the attitude of the organization shall be during the contest. The scathing protest adopted last week by the County Democracy delegates to the Saratoga Convention will be reported and, of course, approved, and the Committee on Resolutions will present a carefully prepared address. But any attempt to indorse Flower and the State ticket will be handled without gloves. That the mass of the organization has determined to settle its scores with Tammany by voting for Mr. Fassett, does not now admit of a reasonable doubt.

WANT LISPENARD STEWART FOR SENATOR The organization of the IXth Assembly District Enrolled Republicans held its regular meeting at the headquarters in Abingdon Square last evening, Major William H. Cresa presiding. An executive meeting of the district committee was held before the meeting of the organization, at which it was decided to recommend the nomination of Lispenard Stewart for This recommendation was reported by George B. Deane, chairman of the meeting, and unanimously approved. Lists of delegates to the several local conventions were agreed upon. will be only one set of tirkets at the primary election. The delegates selected for the Republican County Convention were George B. Deane, John W. Jacobus, Martin T. Ryder, Alva A. Ford, Jeremiah L. Pane, born, Albert A. Hale, William F. Wall, George M. Church, Henry P. Williams and William H. Corsa. Geora M. Clark was elected treasurer of the organization, in place of George D. Kupfer, who has removed from the district. Resolutions were adopted flidersing the Republican State ticket and ordering a ratification meeting for Monday night at the Bleecker Building, if it can be obtained. A campaign committee of five was selected, with L. Owan Miner as chairman. Fifty new members were enrolled and seventy more were proposed. will be only one set of tickets at the primary election

LIQUOR DEALERS AGAINST TAMMANY. Tammany Hall has incurred the enmity of a strong and powerful organization. In former years the Whole sale Liquor Dealers' Association, whose mottle is, "Our business first and politics afterward," has often been business first and politics afterward," has often been treated with great consideration by Tammany Hall. But this year no attention has been paid to the demands of this association, which has over $22,000,000 invested in the liquor business. One of its demands, which has been ignored by the authorities of Tammany (LR) is that the section of blackmaffing radial desired. Hall, is that the system of blackmalling retail dealers by the police shall be discontinued.

"The Wine and Spirit Gazette," the organ of the association, in its last issue in asserting that it has not gone over to the Republicans, says that it could not go over to the Republicans, because it never had been on one side or the other in politics. In political affiliations the members of the association, so "The Gazette" says, belong to both political parties, and adds: "This paper represents their business interests, and will continue to do so no matter what party may suffer thereby." Two paragraphs from "The Gazetta" are reproduced: The defeat of Reswell P. Flower this fall would make

The derest of Reswell P. Flower this last of the Democracy of the Empire State next year. Cleveland would then be looked upon by the Democrats as the savior of their party. There are thousands of good Democrats in this etty who hate Tammany worse than they hate the Republicans. These men know that every vote cast for Roswell P. Flower means the respect of the review of Tammany Mail. an increase of the power of Tammany Hall.

THE NORWOOD READY FOR THE RACE.

HER RIVAL, THE VAMOSE, WILL HAVE TO DO WELL TO DEFEAT HER.

Whether the Cushing will go over the course, or an part of the course, in the approaching race between the Vamose, Yankee Doodle, Norwood and others-if others there be to start-is still a question. Chairman Hall, of the Regatta Committee, received a dispatch yesterday from the Navy Department, simply stating that the Cushing was out of water. Mr. Munro's Norwood will be on hand, as the following letter will show

To the Editor of The Tribune. Sir: The Norwood is ready. She was tested this sir: the Norwood is ready. She was tested this morning on the Bay at 200 pounds pressure, and Mr. Reuben Rilley, who had charge of the repairs to her condenser, etc., pronounced her to be in first-class condition inevery particular. She will be ready on Saturday to Vamuse and other steam yachts over the American Yacht Club's course.
She will, however, be hauled out to-morrow in that his refusal would be a fulcrum upon which to clean her of below water line, at which time she will receive get a leverage in the campaign. They did not reason a coat of the best material used at present for such pur well, for Mr. Lodge promptly accepted, and as the challenged party he availed himself of his right to denser a severe test prior to the race on Saturday. I denser a severe test prior to the race on Saturday. wish to state that if the Norwood comes in astern of the Vamose she will do so with her throttle valve wide open and with a steam pressure of 200 pounds. I consider her engineer, Mr. John Clark, a first-class, careful drivgr, and his assistant, Mr. Walter Wheeler, one of the best men I ever saw handle a belier. All I ask is adsolutely smooth water, as the Norwood is an open launch.

I make these statements now, so that the public need not expect to hear excuses after the race is over, if the Norwood is defeated, either from myself or from her builder, Mr. C. D. Mosher. If Mr. Mosher is not perfectly satisfied to have the men I name above take chorge of the Norwood's machinery during the race with the Vamose and the other yachts, on Saturday, as advertised, I now invite that gentleman to take charge of the Norwood hemself, to engage the very bes known engineer, one or more, also fireman and pilot, if he chooses, at my expense. Owners of boats are too frequently blamed by builders if their productions do not quently blamed by quently history of turn out satisfactorily.

My only desire for a race is solely to test the comparative merits of the quadruple and triple expansion NORMAN L MUNRO. New-York, Sept. 28, 1891.

It had been hoped that the Now Then would be in the race, but as her owner, Mr. Addis, is still hunting in the Maine woods it is doubtful if she will be on hand. The yachts will have the tide with them for half the way, and against them the other half. This will, of course, make a difference in the speed, and prevent such a hig record from being made as migh be the case if the tide served for the whole course

ONCE HE WAS A RICH VIRGINIA LAWYER

ON SATURDAY LAST, HOWEVER, JAMES E. GOD DIN DIED AT THE WORKHOUSE ON BLACKWELLS ISLAND.

James E. Goddin, sixty-two years old, at one tin prominent lawyer of Richmond, Va., died in poverty last Saturday at the workhouse on Blackwell's Island He was born in Richmond and was one of its influential citizens up to 1873. His practice was large, and he had accumulated quite a fortune. When the crash came in 1873 he lost everything. His wife died soon after, his home was broken up and he became a wanderer. In 1876 he came to this city, and sine that time and up to his death he has been addicted to drink. Goddin finally secured a place as a helper in Bellevne Hospital. He would frequently go off on one of his sprees, but was always taken back. has been employed in the storeroom at the hospital and for two years he abstained from drink.

A week ago yesterday he obtained a pass to go out, aying that he was going down town. He became in oxicated, fell at Park Row and again in Chambers st. triking his hend against the curbstone, and he was locked up in a cell at the Oak-st. station on a charge of Goddin to the Island for ten days. He became unconscious on Priday last and on Saturday he died.

Deputy Coroner Jenkins made an autopsy on the body yesterday, and found that the man had died of a fractured shufl sustained in his full.
House Surgeon Stewart of Bellevne Hospital, in recording the case, said that the contusion which was found over the man's right eye was inflicted by a policeman's club. This does not seem to have been the case.

Mr. Goddin has a son in Winslow, N. C. Goddin to the Island for ten days. He became un-

WIFE MISSES HER HUSBAND WHILE WALKING IN THE STREET.

The body of George Fuchstadt, a framer, forty cears old, who lived at No. 1,532 Gates-ave., Brook lyn, was found yesterday floating in the water of Newtown Creek. Puchstadt had spent Sunday afternoon and evening with his brother Michael, who lives it No. 1,117 Grand-st. Mrs. Fuchstadt and their two children accompanied him. At 10 o'clock Sunday panied by their nephew, Jacob Fuchstadt, nineteen cars old. The party had gone but three blocks when Enchstadt was seen to have lagged behind. The night was dark, and Mrs. Fuchstadt called to her husband but received no response. She then returned with her children and nephew to search, but was unable to ind any traces of the missing man.

She went back to the home of Fuchstadt's brother and told him of her husband's mysterious disappearance. Another search was instituted with lanterns. but with the same result. The woman finally wen to her home. In the morning she went directly back to the place where she had last seen her husband, and aw the body being taken from the water. It had been found by Jacob Lilley, of No. 1,087 Grand-st-No marks of any kind were found on the body that would cause the belief that the man had been foully dealt with. It is believed by the folice that Fucistud fell into the creek and met death by suffocation by being buried head-foremost in the mud.

YOUNG LAWKENS LOCKED UP WITHOUT BAIL. Frank Lawkens, the young electrician who was ar-

sted on Sunday night for shooting his wife Anna, was rought to Jefferson Market Court yesterday and was craigned before Justice Kelly, charged with felonious sault. In court Lawkens said he was sorry for what se had done; that his wife refused to live with him and he drew the revolver to scare her.

Justice Kelly held Lawhens without ball to await he result of his wife's injuries.

Mrs. Lawkens yesterday in an ante-mortem statement to Coroner Messement told the story of the attempt of murder her. After describing the way in which she left the house with her histor, Mrs. Bertha Ristan, and the meeting with her hisband, she said: "As he came to me he stood still and said, 'Now I have got you?' and putting his hand to his hip pecket, pulled the decono,000 mands, many and putting his hand to his hip pecket, pulled hid behind Mrs. Ristan. My hisband then fired behind her at me. She pushed him and the shot took effect in one of the windows of the store without harting me. My husband then fired again, the shot tasking effect in the right stoo of my neek. I then heard another shot which I thought he simed at me also, but which I have shot me. I was always a good wife to him. He believed I thought more of my parents than I did of him."

In conclusion, Mrs. Lawkens says that her husband had frequently threatened to kill her by luches, and on four occasions had tried to strongle her. She has been live of my probably lodged in the brains.

HIS UNCLES LIVE IN MEMPHIS.

SO SAYS GEORGE C. HALIDAY, BUT OTHER IN-

FORMATION ABOUT THEM IS SCARCE. George C. Halliday, a refined and intelligent-looking George C. Halliday, a refined and intelligent-looking young man of twenty-eight years, who described himself as an agent for the firm of Halliday Bros., grain commission dealers and elevators of Memphis, was held in $1,000 bail for further examination at the Yorkville Folice Court yest-Niay afternoon, on the charge of grand larceny, preferred by George W. O'Dell, clerk for O'Dell Bros., organ builders, at No. 407 West Forty-second-st. About a week ago Halliday called upon the firm of O'Dell Bros., saying that he came in the interest of the Memphis Episcopal Church, who wanted some repairs made on the church organ. who wanted some repairs made on the church organ-Last Friday morning Halliday again called at O'Dell's and presenting a draft of $100 drawn by Halliday Bros. on the Memphis National Bank to George W. O'Deil, as ed him to cash it. O'Deil drew a personal check for $50 on the Home Bank of New-York and told him that he would give him a check for the balance on the following day. Halliday agreed to this.

After Halliday went away O'Dell became suspicious and hurried to the Home Bank, where he discovered that his check had already been cashed. O'Dell then told his suspicious to Edward Stevenson, the cashier of the bank, and got him to make some telegraphic in-quires at the Memphis National Bank about the firm of Halliday Bros., and a few hours later O'Dell said the reply came "Persons named not known in bank."
When Halliday presented himself the following morning in the office of the organ builders, O'Dell produced a pistol and threatened to shoot Halliday if he would not return his $50. Halliday persisted that the draft was good and that he was what he had represented

As he did not have the money to return, O'Dell sent for a policeman and had Halliday taken into custody. Halliday is indignant over his arrest. He has been locked up since Saturfay. When arraigned before Justice Murray yesterday he said that his uncles comprised the firm of Halliday Bros., at Memphis, and that the firm had been in existence over a quarter of a century. He said that he had been connected with a century. He said that he had been connected with the firm for twelve years, and that all their business is done through the Memphis National Bank. He said that when he left Memphis he did not care to take too much cash money along, so had two drafts of $100 cach drawn by the firm. One of the drafts he had cashed in Chicago without any trouble. The Judgs seemed to believe Haliday's story and thought a mistake had been made. He set the hearing down for Friday next. In the meantime Halilday will be locked up.
